

English for Sixième – Rozenn Herouett, St Charles

I came up with this idea of this project of the fast food van because I had a tea with a friend at home one day and we were talking about teaching and about projects and she suggested to me to actually do a project with my year 7 class about food. And I thought, yes, food is a brilliant topic and we also talked about role-play. We thought role-play was a good thing because kids love actually doing role-play. So she said 'Oh yes you could do a project – fast food van with a customer, OK, and the owner, the owner of the van and they could have a discussion. They could order things, order food and then they could complain, they could make it funny, entertaining..... ' And this is what we done and I think it was a success because the kids just loved it.

Role-play 1

Owner. Good morning sir, I'm Axos.

Customer. Good morning

Owner. What can I do for you ?

Customer I would like a strawberry crumble please.

Owner. Yes, of course. What do you want something to drink ?

Customer. No thanks. How much is it?

Owner. Four pound fifty-seven please.

Customer. Here you are.

Owner. Here we go.

Customer. Yuk there's a spider in my crumble !

Owner. Oh, my God, I'm sorry, I give you another one immediately and I offer you a smoothie of your choice. I hope you enjoy it.

Customer. See you later, goodbye.

Role-play 2

Customer. Hello, I'm Anise,

Owner. Hello Anise. What would you like to eat ?

Customer. I would like some salad César please.

Owner. OK. What would you like for desert?

Customer. I would like ??

Owner. Sure, what would you like to drink?

Customer. I would like water please.

Owner. OK, here you are.

Customer. Thank you. Mmmmm, it's delicious. How much is it ?

Owner. Ten pounds twenty please.

Customer. Here you are.

Owner. Thank you, bye.

Customer. Bye.

Role-play 3.

Owner. Hello madam.

Customer. Hello madam.

Owner. What would you like to eat ?

Customer. I would like chips and hamburger.

Owner. What would you like to drink ?

Customer. I would like 2 cokes and one water.

Owner. Yes of course. What would you like for desert ?

Customer. Um, I would like a chocolate ice-cream please.

Owner. Certainly. Here you are. Uh, uh, forty pounds please.

Customer. OK, goodbye.

