

English Dialogue: Jeanne and Amandine

The two mermaids

[ *jingle* Welcome to your destination, you are now in heaven ]

Ariel Hello Ariel, we have been waiting for you.

Disney Princess Umm, hello? Who are you? You look familiar somehow...

Ariel I'm Ariel, the little mermaid.

Disney Princess No I'm the little mermaid, the Disney princess. Wife of prince Eric.

Ariel Actually, we are both the little mermaid. You died, and are now in heaven, and we are two different versions of the same mermaid. You are a "Disney princess", whatever that is, and I come from Anderson's tale.

Disney Princess Oh, so we have had the same life?

Ariel Not quite, for instance you married prince Eric. I didn't. So, how was it? Have you been given an eternal soul?

Disney Princess Ok, I get it now. And what are you talking about, I married the prince because I loved him. That's how I got my voice back from that sea witch actually.

Ariel Lucky! I never got to get my tongue back. I mean I guess that's better than what happened to my feet. So, humans didn't have an eternal soul in your world?

Disney Princess Did she cut your tongue? And no, humans didn't have an "eternal soul" in my world.

Ariel I don't see the point of transforming for Eric then, he wasn't really worth it, he was just a man! And, between you and me, he wasn't really handsome nor smart.

Disney Princess Uh, rude! Eric was very.... kind and sensitive and... whatever, just leave him alone. He was worth it.

Ariel Eric kind and sensitive? Are you kidding me? Thankfully I didn't marry this loser due to Ursula. I should have killed him when I had the chance, I would still be alive today if I had. But foolish as I was, I was too in love with him to do so.

Disney Princess How can you say that! You loved Eric, he was an angel! You could have never lived with this on your conscience! Had you stayed alive, you couldn't have survived without him.

Ariel I could've lived without him! You do know that today, and for the blink of time, women never needed men to survive, right? What world are you living in?

Disney Princess You're lying. You wouldn't have had anything to live: no money, no luxurious life. You would've lived your whole life in a hovel. Look at me; my life was extraordinary; I had a husband who loved me, I lived a comfortable life, basking in a pool with a cocktail in hand.

Ariel Pffff an extraordinary life? Come on. I died way before you and I saw how you lived. While you "basked in your pool", as you said, your perfect husband was cheating on you! Talk about a prince.

Disney Princess Wait, what?